

Written by Thom Townsend

28 Days on a Nest

Section 4 (of 4)

The parents are being attentive:

...and are feeding their chicks:

That little known nest, now abandoned but available for next summer, played its role:

The parents are doing their job, ... now we must all do our part by allowing them freedom to develop.

It has been our (the Townsends and the Craigs) extreme pleasure to have had a window to this historic event on Province Lake. We hope that you all enjoy watching the loons as they grow, ...chicks that we are now affectionately calling Dick & Blythe, in honor of the Thomases, who loved this lake and did so much in encouraging others to love and respect our beautiful resource.

Thom & Jan
July 2015

Editorial note: If judged simply by the length and content of this missive, some might conclude that we are looney. Others that know us well will say that it is only further evidence. Take note that no one forced you to read this.

Please respect our authorship of this document.